News from Austrian noisepop-slackers KILLED BY 9V BATTERIES. Their upcoming third album "THE CRUX" is due in fall 2011. It really took us label-guys by surprise when those boys with their undeniable Sonic Youth background disclosed they will join forces with Vienna techno pioneer and producer of the latest Hercules and Love Affair record Patrick Pulsinger to tweak and refine their very own "Neuhass" postnothing - school. The results were more pop than the Batts ever had sounded. Whilst songs like "WORST OF TOTAL ANARCHY" with broad synth layers reveal an yet unheard twist in the bands artistic development the first single "IMPULSE CONTROL" still feeds all those nerds crowding the planet, hungry for the old days of Subpop and AmRep outfits, virtuously spiced up with a knack for contemporary bands like Male Bonding, No Age and Japandroids.

KB9VB are Wolfgang Möstl (guitar/vocals), Mario Zangl (bass), Mario Loder (drums), Phillip Ludersdorfer (guitar)

Bio:

Formed in the provincial town of Weiz, in southern Austria, these boys started out when they barely had reached their teens. At first they only wanted to record a soundtrack for a short film their singer, guitarist and principal songwriter Wolfgang had shot, but then they realised, that Thurston Moore is way cooler than Jim Jarmusch, so they stuck with the music. Guitars piling up upon each other and sticking out to every imaginable direction, in a way, making Dinosaur jr. look pretty senior and dropping hooklines at a rate that made them feel like they are feeding all those nerds crowding the planet, still hungry for the sound of old DISCHORD and AmRep outfits, spiced up with a knack for the contemporary. KILLED BY 9V BATTERIES are gonna release their 3rd full length album on SILUH. So beware all you eyeliner clones filling the venues everywhere with your fake "emo" tions worn on your sleeves, here come KILLED BY 9V BATTERIES. So if you feel alike, put on your armour, hit the streets and show the next hype-band where to shove it. This is our time! Reclaim it! Throw your limbs around to the skystorming sound of the BATTTS!
